BRITISH CRACK MAIN ENEMY DEFENSE LINE

Montgomery Units Capture Portions Of Sangro Ridge

Simultaneously United States Units of Allied Fifth Army Fight Way Forward One Mile to Take Castelnuovo

BRIDGEHEAD HAS BEEN WIDENED TO TWELVE MILES

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 30—(AP)—The British Eighth Army has cracked the main winter defense line of the Germans on the Adriatic end of the Italian front by driving four miles forward from the Sangro river, Allied headquarters announced today.

In 36 hours of continuous day and night fighting Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces captured portions of the vital Sangro ridge northwest of the river and routed the Nazis from the town of Mezzagrogna.

Simultaneously, United States units of the Allied Fifth Army fought their way forward one mile through blistering enemy shellfire to occupy the town of Castelnuovo, northwest of Montaquilla.

While clawing up the Sangro ridge, which rises 750 to 1,000 feet above the river valley, the British, New Zealand and Indian troops under Montgomery also widened their bridgehead to 12 miles.

This frontal assault on the enemy's heavily fortified mountain positions was supported by deadly artillery and aerial bombardment, which in itself was almost sufficient to make the Germans' defense system in this section crumble.

The advancing British captured numerous prisoners from the German 65th Infantry Division who were described as "bomb happy" indicating they were shocked and demoralized from the heavy bombing and shelling.

After taking Mezzagrogna the Eighth Army hammered away in the direction of Romagnoli at the extreme south end of the ridge and north toward Fossacesia at the northeastern end of the ridge.

During this surge onto higher ground the little villages of Marcantonio, Basilo, Marcuccia, Casone, Cocco, Marcono and San Onofsia were overrun.

Farther inland the situation around the second bridgehead across the Sangro river near Archi was reported generally quiet and Montgomery's headquarters gave no intimation whether the enemy's important supply road along the river in that section had been cut.

On the Fifth Army front heavy fighting by the Americans during the past 48 hours continued around the Falconara mountain, where Castelnuovo was occupied.

Enemy artillery bombardments increased there and on other sectors of the Fifth Army front.

Allied aircraft joined in the blows at the Germans' mountain entrenchments and other installations and also extended their operations to include an air attack on

AUSSIES CLOSE IN ON ENEMY JUNGLE POST

Seasoned Troops, With Conquest of Sattelburg Behind Them, are Approaching Bonga

GAINS UNDISCLOSED

Southwest Pacific Allied Headquarters, Nov. 30—(AP)—Seasoned Australian troops, their conquest of Sattelburg behind them, are closing in on Bonga, another Japanese outpost in the New Guinea jungle.

Tanks crunched through the tangled undergrowth in support of the troops as the attack started, while Billy Mitchell bombers skimmed the treetops, slashing enemy positions with machinegun fire.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced the assault began last Saturday. By Sunday afternoon the Australians were within a mile of their objective. The distance gained was not given.

Bonga lies northeast of Sattelberg, which fell to the Allies Nov. 26. A spokesman said its capture

Senators in Know Expect Long War

By JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—The current crop of peace rumors has whipped up speculation among members of congress about an early end to the war but several senators in a position to know something about the progress of the fighting agreed today it will be surprising if the Germans are beaten before next summer or even later.

As one exception, however, Senator Austin (R-VT.), ranking minority member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, told this reporter that without any knowledge of the events, he is inclined to lend some credence to reports that the Germans already may have broached peace terms to the Allies.

But Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), who saw action in Africa as an army major and who subsequently visited Allied battlefronts on a senatorial tour, saw little likelihood that the war against the Germans could be won before midsummer at the earliest.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) of the senate war investigating committee predicted it will take a year to crush Germany and that the cleanup fighting against Japan will last another year after that.

Australian Sets Trans-Ocean Mark

Montreal, Nov. 30—(AP)—The trans-Atlantic air speed record from Montreal to Britain was beaten yesterday at Capt. Richard Allen an Australian member of British Overseas Airways Corporation which operates the North Atlantic ferry shuttle service for the RAF Transport Command.

He flew a Liberator bomber 3,100 miles non-stop from Montreal to a British airport in 11 hours and 35 minutes—21 minutes faster than a record established seven weeks ago by a Lancaster bomber piloted by Caupt. M. B. Barclay of Perth, Scotland, Capt. Barclay was making the inaugural flight of Trans-Canada Airlines New Atlantic service.

Warren County Reports First Tragedy In Woods on Opening Day of the Season for Bucks

A hunter from Ohio, who died from a heart attack following overexertion and excitement after he had shot a deer in the vicinity of Hermit Springs, Watson township, late Monday afternoon, was the first fatality among the thousands of nimrods who were in the woods in the state the opening day of the season, according to press reports.

Reese Evans, 53, of Petroleum, O., hunting with friends in the Hearts Content area, was the victim of the tragedy, according to word conveyed to Coroner Ed Lowrey last evening by his companion, Troy Chambers, of Masury, O. Later the official was advised by telephone by the widow of Mr. Evans that he had been idle for 13 weeks because of a heart ailment.

Mr. Chambers, in a statement made during the investigation, made the following report:

"After killing the deer I went back to the car for help, bringing a partner who aided in finding the buck, since it was higher up the hill. We did not hear Mr. Evans again and we succeeded in bringing the deer down about half the distance. I called to Mr. Evans and did not get any reply, so we started back, finding him about 300 feet from where the deer fell. He was lying on his face, and his rifle was lying beside his body."

Permission was given to move the body to the Lutz Funeral Home in this city, where examination revealed no marks of any nature excepting a slight bruise on the nose where he had fallen. Today it was removed to the Stewart funeral home at Hubbard Ohio.

Mr. Evans was born December 4, 1890, and would have been 53 years of age next Saturday. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Owen Hacker and Catherine Anne Reeves, both of Petroleum, Ohio. It is understood that he was employed as a machinist and that Mr. Chambers was his foreman.

While the deer kill on the opening day was not as great as had been anticipated, there were many deer tied to the fenders of auto-

U. S. BOMBERS SET RECORD FOR ATTACKS

Eighth Air Force Follows on Heels of R. A. F. Raids On Targets in West Germany

AIRFIELDS DAMAGED

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

London, Nov. 30—(AP)—U. S. Eighth Air Force heavy bombers attacked targets in estern Germany in daylight today, setting a record of 11 major raids for one month's heavy operations from bases in Britain.

Following on the heels of last night's RAF Mosquito bomber raid on the same general area, the American heavies were supported by U. S. RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters during their mission.

The four-engined American bombers exceeded by one the previous record of 10 operations set in July and equalled in September.

The announcement of the widespread fighter support was a rare combination fo rthe big bombers which are usually acvcompanied only by American fighters.

With the Americans' end-of-the month burst, the combined aerial operations of both the American and British heavy bomb groups

SOVIETS DRIVE FORWARD ON SIX SECTORS

Russians Doggedly Battering Way Through Forests, Swamps and Plains Toward Nazi Defenses

CONVERGE ON RAIL HUB

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Nov. 30—(AP)—Russian armies rolled steadily westward on six sectors of the long front today—three in white Russia and three in the Ukraine—doggedly battering their way through forests, swamps and plains densely spotted with heavily fortified German defense works.

Greatest progress was reported in the Zhlobin sector northwest of captured Gomel, where Gen Constantine Rakossovsky's troops were converging in a pincers movement on that rail hub and fortress guarding the Gomel escape gap.

A Russian communique said that Red Army spearheads had captured Stryeshin, 12 miles south of Zhlobin, and had seized 40 villages in a smashing drove from the west toward that strategic enemy base.

Other advances were recorded in the Berezina and Pripet River valleys west of the Dnieper River, the bulletin said.

Eight hundred Germans were reported killed as the Russians surged forward in this area, stabbing closer to the enemy supply system while the Nazis steadily retreated toward the old Polish border.

More than 200 miles to the south in the great bend of the Dnieper, another Russian army launched a renewed drive on the west bank of the river between Kiev and Kremenchug. The charge drove the Germans back eight miles west of Cherkasy, 1,500 Nazis fell before the Red Army guns, the communique announced, and soviet troops stormed into Russkaya-Polyana and four other towns, including Dubeyevka, near the rail junction of Smela.

(Russian forces have pierced the German defense lines at Cherkasy to establish a bridgehead on the Dnieper river and have reduced to less than five miles in width the corridor linking the Nazi garrison within the city and German forces holding the area between Cherkasy and Kremenchug, a Reuters dispatch from Moscow to London said today.)

Miners' Pay Pact Causing Much Friction

Quirk in Agreement Comes To Fore on Basis of Data Submitted

EXPLAINS HIGH COSTS

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—A quirk in the agreement between Interior Secretary Ickes and John L. Lewis—regarded in some quarters as an underlying friction—came to the fore today on the basis of data prepared by the Solid Fuels Administration.

It explains in part why coal prices are going up, even though the War Labor Board says it did not approve a wage increase. It indicates, too, why another coal crisis may be hatching.

What the War Labor Board approved was not a wage increase, but an increase in earnings. The WLB justified its approval on the basis of an increased production time of one hour a day. But the increase in working time is based in part on an assumption, and therein lies the asserted friction.

Its extent is disclosed in a letter from Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to the OPA authorizing price increases averaging 17 cents a ton. Vinson said the Solid Fuels Administration (Ickes) told him the increased labor costs resulting from the new wage agreement should be computed on an estimated "production increase of approximately 8 percent by reason of the additional work time provided for in the agreement."

In the soft coal case, it is the 45 minutes travel time. On a portal to portal basis, every minute spent traveling underground is taken from the time when miners would be producing coal. The Ickes-Lewis agreement "assumes" an average of 45 minutes travel time. Operators say the figure substantially exceeds that and Lewis himself once contended the average was 90 minutes.

Although the War Labor Board was willing to accept the "assum-

Hike In Milk Price Urged by Speaker

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—(AP)—Pennsylvanians could now afford to pay "20 cents a quart for milk without reducing their purchasing power," Dr. William C. Pierce, associatte professor of agricultural economics at the Pennsylvania State College told delegates to the annual two day Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative meeting.

Speaking before more than 440 delegates representing 6,600 dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and part of West Virginia, yesterday Dr. Pierce pointed out that milk sold in Philadelphia for 12 cents a quart in 1939 now sells for 14 cents. He told the delegates that milk would now cost 30 cents a quart had milk prices advanced at the same rate as bituminous coal prices.

The delegates were told that labor costs on Pennsylvania dairy farms had almost doubled since 1942 while retail milk prices have risen only 17 per cent since 1939.

Peace Overtures Viewed As Nazi Propaganda Offensive

Reich Expected to Use All Wiles to Offset Expected Big News

CRUCIAL TIME AHEAD

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Talk of German peace overtures was viewed here today as indicating that Nazi leaders have launched a propaganda offensive to counter the expected big news from a conference of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

This meeting, which probably also involves discussions with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, may be current now; at least Washington and London, after days of tentative guessing, now take it for granted that if it has not already been held it must be at hand.

The agreements which may be announced by the big three of the

An Associated Press dispatch from London said this Reuters dispatch was not distributed by Reuters in Britain. However, it was transmitted through London and reached New York by normal radio transmission.

Four Killed In Philadelphia By Same Gun

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—(AP)—William Harrison, a 58-year-old real estate salesman went bersek yesterday killing two partners in a firm which employed him and later slaying two downtown YMCA employes before he shot himself with a 32-caliber revolver.

Lieutenant George Spangler, city police ballistic expert, said today that microscopic tests "proved conclusively that the gun found in Harrison's hand by Detectives shortly after the shooting occurred was the same gun that killed Harrison's employers and the YMCA employes." The coroners office listed the cases as murder and suicide.

The coroner said inquests will be held next week in the deaths of Harrison, Samuel Clokey, 58, and David Fink, 47, partners in the real estate firm, and Madease Chappell, 29, a maid, and Mrs. Nora Harley, 26, assistant secretary of the YMCA. Both women and Harrison were negroes.

Police said Harrison was a graduate of Hampton Institute and dabbled in astrology. His friends, they said, regarded him as a "chronic grouch."

Retention Of Liquor Board Head Prospect

Gov. Expected to Make Early Announcement Regarding Posts

COLEGROVE MENTIONED

Harrisburg, Nov. 30—(AP)—Retention of Chairman Frederick T. Gelder on the Liquor Control Board and filling of a third board membership vacant since 1941, appeared probable today to a high administration source.

"Governor Martin has complete confidence in Gelder's sincerity and integrity—as does the public—and my belief is he will be retained," the state official explained yesterday in commenting on the expiration of Gelder's term without public word from the governor that he is planning any change.

The same source said the governor, in acting on the third $10,000 place on the board, will name "an aggressive member," reviving speculation as to whether Arthur Colegrove, Corry publisher, will be offered the post.

Colegrove, secretary of Property and Supplies in former Governor George H. Earle's cabinet, was mentioned by name by the governor recently at a press conference in connection with a discussion of minority representation on boards and commissions.

Gelder, 69-year-old teetotaler and Forest City newspaper publisher, was named to the board in 1940 after 25 years in the state legislature.

An enlarged board would have the job of deciding on and putting into effect permanent whiskey rationing, now on an experimental basis until Dec. 31. At present, customers are permitted to buy a fifth and a pint of whiskey for the six-week period.

Greenwich Village Rocked by Blast

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Two persons, including a 28-year old guard who rescued two men, were injured fatally and 30 or more swing shift workers were hurt early today in the explosion of a leaking hydrogen tank in a lower west side war plant.

The plant guard, Robert Hiller of Brooklyn, on duty near a loading platform where the hydrogen was stored, died in Beekman hospital several hours after the blast. The second victim, Antonio Gangarello of Brooklyn, died in the same hospital.

The blast occurred at the Western Electric Company, rocking the neighborhood and shattering windows in buildings in a 10-block radius which includes Greenwich Village. The detonation was felt in several New Jersey communities across the river.

The War Department, Federal Bureau of Investigation, police and fire departments launched immediate investigations.

Used Clothing Drive Will Get Under Way Tomorrow

TOMORROW . . .
WEDNESDAY . . .
DECEMBER 1, 1943 . . .

This will be a Red Letter day in the history of Warren County salvage effort; one of the most important days since the official beginning of the salvage campaign not long after the attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Why? Because this is the first used clothing drive in all that eventful period, a period of great activity and substantital success in most phases of the salvage effort.

Borough schools under Superintedent John G. Rossman have joined with County schools under Superintendent H. L. Blair, to make the giant drive an overwhelming success.

Students of all schools are asked to bring used clothing from their homes, and the homes of neighbors not later than tomorrow morning.

Volunteer trucks will be on the roads early in the morning to pick up the collection. Masterson trucks will cover the ten borough schools on Wednesday while State highway trucks will cover the County schools on Thursday and Friday.

Clothes will be dry cleaned locally and forwarded to National agencies to be distributed among destitute people all over the world.

Clubs, stores, and other public organizations have been requested to place boxes in lobbies for the collection of such articles, and cartons are being delivered to all schools in the Borough for the same purpose. Lists of the articles desired and those not desired have already been published in the newspaper and otherwise circularized to all interested organizations.

Weapons Available to Meet Secret "Reprisal" Threats

By TOM REEDY

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Hitler's threat to use a secret "reprisal" weapon was answered by U. S. military spokesman with these disclosures today:

1.—The U. S. Army Air Force has learned how to hoist 75 MM cannon into the skies—a giant plane weapon so potent it already has sunk a Japanese destroyer single-handed.

2.—The navy has developed some ordnance sensations, one so amazing that a foreign scientist labelled it impossible.

The army said its B-25 Mitchell medium bombers had been equipped with the 75's, first ever to carry such heavy firepower. U. S. bombers have been using 37MM guns, Russia had some success with RP MM. Fighter planes usually carry 20 MM cannon.

The feat got its combat test in the South Pacific. A B-25 so equipped smashed a Japanese air transport, then with five direct cannon hits left a large destroyer sinking.

Rear Adminral W. H. P. Blandy who is leaving his desk as chief of the navy's ordnance bureau to return to sea duty, said new naval weapons now in use are "fully comparable to the German radio-controlled bomb and the German accoustic homing torpedoes."

Local Soldier in Mediterranean is Decorated

Recommendations for the award came from Col. W. O. H. Prosser, commanding officer of the medical corps, excerpts reading as follows:

"S/Sgt. Schindler has been on duty in North Africa since 27 January 1943 with the 2d Convalescent Hospital. As senior NCO in charge of the officers of the Registrar, the Commanding Officer Detachment of Patients and the Admission and Disposition Office, he has been charged with the proper functioning and liaison of all departments pertaining to the administration of said offices; he also was in full charge of training of all personnel of these offices in administration. PAC Members Are Planning On Busy Week

Another busy week is in prospect for the PAC members and their friends, according to a glimpse at their schedule of coming events.

The PAC church school orchestra group will practice at the church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and the Youth Loyalty Committee will meet with Brackett Ayers at 7:00 p. m. at the church.

A get-together, which is being termed a time of "let's make something for Christmas", is planned at the church at 7:30 p. m. Friday, when there will be fun, games and eats for all PAC members and any interested friends.

The newly formed junior-senior group will meet at the church at 8:00 p. m. on Sunday, under the leadership of Marion Lutz and Barbara Lesser.

Belated reports from last week's special activities show that the first play staged by the dramatic group was very well done and that all were very grateful to Olive Archibald Huff for her untiring work with the young people. In addition, there was a good turnout Saturday night for the Thanksgiving dance held at the YWCA activities building, when Leland Daye had charge of music and Helen Claire Hulings and her committee served refreshments.

Youngsville Man Stabs Brother In Quarrel Over Dead Rabbit

Two Youngsville men employed at Corry figured in a stabbing fray Saturday night that sent one of them to the hospital and the other to jail. Ira Henry, 30, is in the Corry Hospital recuperating from a deep stab wound in his back and his brother, Wade Henry, 33, is under arrest pending the outcome of his brother's injuries.

The men had been on a hunting trip and returned home about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The two with the wife of one of the brothers had hunted in the vicinity of Youngsville and on their return to Corry visited a number of drinking places. On going to their home a quarrel developed over the disposition of the one rabbit the hunt had netted. It was during the quarrel the stabbing took place. A hunting knife was used.

A young girl from a neighbor family who had been looking after children in the household, fled to her home and informed her parents. Police were called and upon their arrival found Mrs. Ira Henry, who had returned from a shopping trip, attempting to stop the flow of blood from the wound in her husband's back. Mrs. Wade Henry later claimed to have left the house during the quarrel and before the stabbing took place and her husband had left the scene when police arrived.

The injured man was taken to the hospital where the wound was reported to be a deep one. A physician reported the wound a serious one but said that Henry should recover unless pneumonia or other complications develop.

Shortly after the police had arranged for transfer of the victim to the hospital, Officer L. J. Kelly, with only a meagre description upon which to work, located Wade Henry in the bar of the Phoenix Hotel and placed him under arrest, no resistance being offered to the officer. The fellow readily admitted his identity when approached by Officer Kelly.

PRICES ARE UP

Retail coal prices have been upped by the New York Regional Board under which division this section is governed. The new prices are now in effect. Egg, nut, stove and pea sizes are increased 70 cents the ton; buckwheat increased 60 cents the ton; rice 50 cents the ton; barley and smaller sizes 35 cents the ton. All of these increases in anthracite coal go to the operators to repay them for higher labor costs to meet the new wage scale provided by the Ickes-Lewis agreement. Four cents a ton transportation charges must also be paid by the consumer. The retailers, it is said, have been hit hard by the increased costs of their own and recent weeks have been particularly difficult for them. Dealers are allowed by the OPA ruling to add the increases to the prices at the mines but not any more to the ceilings established for their various coal yards.

She had suffered a heart ailment and was under the care of a physician and it is believed notice of a death of a relative earlier in the day might have contributed to her sudden passing. KEEPING APPOINTMENTS WITH CONVOYS

In a day's combat, an infantry division fires about 300 tons of ammunition . . . 100 37 mm. anti-aircraft guns, 127½ tons . . . and the thousands of army vehicles "passing the ammunition" and other supplies each burn up an average of 10 gallons of gasoline . . .

All of these materials—the guns, the "gas", the ammunition, the vehicles—plus 700,000 other different military items—must come by sea.

A gigantic supply task without parallel in the history of the nation, this job calls for the finest coordination of American railroads with ships.

The railroads must bring everything to ship sidings exactly as needed—and when needed. Any slip, any delay, may hold up a convoy sailing.

So keeping appointments with convoys is one of the most important jobs railroads have these days.

If pushing a "convoy train" through ahead of your passenger train caused you to be a little late for an early-morning business appointment, the Pennsylvania Railroad feels sure you will gladly overlook it. The demands of war must have not only railroad equipment—but the right-of-way!

Letters to the Editor

November 26, 1943

Editor,
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pa.
Sir:

Your recent editorial captioned "Christmas Trees To Be Scarce" was read with interest. The item is timely and is accurate as to the comparative scarcity of trees this year. However, your source of information, an unnamed "state forest expert", stated that "Some people have already purchased trees, and they won't have any needles on by Christmas." This broad statement cannot go unchallenged by one familiar with the Yule tree industry for 15 years and actively engaged in it for ten years.

Many Christmas trees cut in September and October hold all their needles until well into the following January, after two to three-week stays in heated houses. The writer has grown certain species of trees which have been kept in normally heated homes for as long as three months without losing their needles . . . untreated trees.

It is not to be supposed that this may be done with every tree sold for St. Nick to trim. Hemlock, the State Tree of Pennsylvania and one of the most attractive, is a very short keeper; this limitation on its use makes it commercially undesirable and it is not found in plantations. Another old favorite is the Norway Spruce, but it, too, has a comparatively short life indoors. Its keeping quality is affected by the season but generally speaking a few days after trimming it begins to make a "muss."

It has been learned by members of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association and other growers that the Firs and Pines hold their needles longest. The needles of the Pines grow in clusters of 2, 3 and 5, all surrounded at the base with a sheath joined to the branches. Those most popular for Christmas trees are Red Pine, Scotch Pine and Austrian Pine.

The leaves (or "needles") of the Balsam Fir and the Douglas Fir persist for weeks indoors without the aid of water or chemicals. In this respect they are equal to the pines when they have not been shipped carelessly from their native Canadian and Western forests. Pennsylvania-grown Firs are increasing in popularity and may well supplant the Norway Spruce as the single-needle favorite.

"They won't have any needles by Christmas" can't be said of all Spruces, but the two or three species of Spruce with 'staying qualities' are thus far too expensive to be in general use.

Oceans of Oil!

The tanker tale is one of the great supply stories of the war. Oceans of the specialized fuels and lubricants required by our armed forces are on the seas at all times — bound for every battle front of global conflict.

American petroleum . . . in American tankers manned by American merchant crews.

The stout-hearted men who carry the oil down stormy, sub-haunted sea-lanes have native courage. Their resourcefulness was developed in the service of American industry.

The Government's tankers are the fleets turned over to it by the American petroleum industry when war broke. They are the world's most advanced and most efficient — because the petroleum industry had to keep developing and improving them in the close competition for your patronage under the American system of individual enterprise.

Without the competitive oil industry, our armed forces would have had neither necessary petroleum production nor necessary sea transportation as war came. The industry that contributed both rose, too, to meet the gigantic home emergency created by sending all its tanker fleets to war.

Crude oil deliveries to refineries were switched to tank cars. Finished product deliveries were switched from tank cars to trucks. Pipe-line operations were reversed to pump oil east instead of gasoline west.

This, achieved almost overnight, is how the industry came through with the needed fuel oil for war plants and the gasoline for your essential driving.

Its accomplishments we owe to the American competitive business system. In tomorrow's World of Victory, this same system will continue to improve on past performance.

Chapter 13

H. C. ROLLINS leaned back in his swivel-chair and studied the Inter-office mailing envelope in his hand, a frown on his face.

"To Mr. Art Melvin," it read, "From Pete Neil, Department 134."

The letter had come to him by mistake and it was not at all unusual for plant Inter-office letters to go astray. It was, in fact, strictly unusual for them to reach their proper destination, the first time out. Rollins wondered why Pete was writing to Mr. Melvin and he frowned slightly. Pete Neil was still a sore spot with him.

Whether intentionally or not, Pete had certainly made him look foolish. The entire plant knew of the mistake he had made and chuckled at it. The office force and certain foremen in the plant were, on occasion still asking him jeeringly, "How's the new engineer?"

Despite her promise, his secretary had let the cat out of the bag, claiming, "Even if I never get another nickle raise . . . it was too good to keep!" He could visualize her grinning face, hear her merry laugh, now, and his cheeks grew even more red.

So, Pete was writing to Mr. Melvin . . . and the letter had fallen into his hands. He could always claim that he had opened it by mistake. Hesitating no longer, he opened the envelope and drew forth the neatly-written pages.

As he read, a slow look of amazement spread over his face. This Neil might be an ordinary auto-mechanic, but he was pretty sharp, after all. Certainly, he was far from being a fool. His plan, as outlined, was good, very good. Then, suddenly, a look af amusement and satisfaction lighted his features and he grinned. Suppose this letter came into the hands of Ernest Kahl. It would be just too bad for Neil.

HE knew exactly what Kahl would do. He'd fire Pete, and do it quickly. Rollins had been unable to do that, due to the fact that Pete had stuck with the dog-chasing for nearly two months, and afterward made an excellent record for himself as a worker. Only the best of reports had come in from his foreman, Tim Brandon, but now . . . here was the chance of a lifetime.

Hurriedly, he attached a memo to the letter. He threw the envelope into the wastebasket and rose from his seat. He carried the letter personally into Kahl's office, which was only a short distance down the hall.

"Mr. Kahl in?" he asked the red-haired secretary.

"Why, no, Mr. Rollins."

"It's ten o'clock, now. Do you know where he is?"

"Officially, no." The girl smiled and winked at him. "But unofficially, he's probably nursing a hangover. Big party at the 'Padlock Club' last night. He'll show up about two P. M."

"And," put in Rollins, patting the girl's cheek, "he'll probably be in a vile humor?"

"Isn't he always?" the girl came back, "After he's been on a binge?"

"That's fine, baby," Rollins said and handed her Pete's letter. "Be sure he reads this letter as soon as he comes in."

"I will, Mr. Rollins."

PETE had no sooner started work that night, tightening hydraulic hose connections than Alf came up to him, grinning. "She thinks it's swell!" he cried.

Pete laughed. "Who thinks what's swell?"

"Kitty thinks your plan is swell. I told her all about it, outside, this afternoon, before we came in . . . only she says they'll fire you if you send it in. . . ."

"Wait," Pete broke in. "You had no business telling Ambrose anything about me. You talk too much. . . ."

"But, I thought . . ."

"I'm through with Miss Ambrose. Whatever I do is no concern of hers. For your own information, I've already sent the letter in to Mr. Melvin, and in the future please keep your mouth shut about my affairs."

The old man took a step backward, face white. "You can't talk to me like that!" he cried. "Some o' these days my papers will go through and I'll get to quit this place and not have to take any of your lip!"

Immediately sorry for his flare-up, Pete turned to the old man to apologize. But at that moment Tim Brandon walked up and placed a hand on Pete's shoulder.

"I'm sorry, Pete," Tim said. "I just got an order from the front office. You are to pack your tools, take them with you and go to Mr. Kahl's office. Here's your pass." He handed a slip of paper to Pete.

"But, why?" Pete wanted to know. "Why are they sending for me? Why do I have to take my tools?"

"I DON'T know, Pete," Tim said, "but it looks bad. It looks like they are going to let you out . . . and frankly, I can't understand it. You've become a very valuable man and I've sent in the best possible reports on you . . . but this looks like you are going to get the axe." He thrust out a hand and Pete shook it. "It's been nice knowing you, Pete and if there's anything I can do for you . . ."

"Sure," Pete said. "I understand, Tim, and I think I have an idea of what this is all about." He turned to Alf. "I'm sorry pal," he said. "I shouldn't have blown up the way I did. You've been swell to me and I want to shake your hand before I leave . . . will you?"

The old man did not hesitate but grasped Pete's hand instantly, his eyes cloudy. "It's okay Pete," he said, "good luck."

In a few moments he had packed his tools. He started toward the front office.

"DEERBURGERS" ARE COMING

With a little help from friend wife, the deer hunter's family can have lots of tender and delicious meat on the table, including "deerburgers," for weeks after the season is over.

For venison, often scoffed at as the "leather of meats", and passed on in quantities to neighbors, can be kept at home and made edible and appetizing with a little patience and skill, Mrs. E. W. W. Dye of the Pennsylvania State College home economics department says.

Here are Mrs. Dye's tips on how to get the most out of the deer your husband kills:

1. Hang the meat outside for seasoning as long as a week.

3. Cook tender cuts, such as round, loin, steaks, and chops, by dry heat—roasting, broiling, or pan-broiling. Don't cover the pan but place a little extra fat atop the roast. Broil a one-inch steak about 10 minutes on each side. In pan-broiling, reduce heat and cook thoroughly after browning.

4. Stew or braise less tender cuts.

Mrs. Dye says, too, that venison meat loaf is delicious, with or without the addition of a little ground pork for extra tenderness.

Other ways to serve venison: "Swissing" the round steaks, covering them with celery, tomatoes, and onions after browning and slowly cooking 1 to 2 hours; making "deerburgers" by grinding the meat which, in this form, will also come in handy for making Christmas mince meat.

Different combinations of herbs may be used to add flavor, but red currant jelly is still the perennial favorite with venison in any form.

ROOSEVELT IS RIGHT

President Roosevelt's refusal to support any official observance of Pearl Harbor Day is very sound. That day is, as he says, a day of "great infamy". It is also a day of deep disgrace for the American nation.

We are not disgraced because we lost an engagement on that day. We are discraced because we were sound asleep, we were caught off guard, we were beaten as a result of disorganization, uncoordination, unforgivable naivete.

The American people are not capable of spending an entire day in the depth of dejection which alone would express how we should feel about Pearl Harbor. So let's not try. Let's whip the Japs and get ourselves a day of rejoicing that we can properly celebrate.

HIKE COMING IN CANNED FOODS

One of our Washington correspondents says when the 1943 packs of processed fruit and vegetables arrive on grocery shelves you will pay from one to four cents more on a number two can of all major items except four vegetables. You will be paying five cents more for a one-pound jar of strawberry jam. Cider vinegar will rise in price about 50 per cent.

The four vegetables staying at old prices are tomatoes, peas, snap beans, and corn. It is certain that it is not coincidence that these are the four subsidized packs.

OPA experts estimate that if subsidies should fall, you would pay from $1.05 to $1.50 a pound for butter by next spring.

BET ON WRONG HORSE

Gloating would be out of order. Katharina Groninger has been buried in Potter's field, and she never was important except as an object lesson. But without gloating, we can point out that Miss Groninger bet on the wrong horse.

A native of Germany, she moved to this country, never became a citizen, and in 1908 began buying German marks. Eventually she spent $350,000 on them—toward the end, millions of marks at a time. In 1936 she went on home relief. This year she bean receiving $45 a month old age pension from the government she never thought it worth while adopting. Now her body lies in Potter's field. It wouldn't if she had bought U. S. bonds.

The lure that deer hunting holds for some sportsmen is emphasized by the tragedy that occurred in the woods in Watson township, this county, Monday afternoon when a hunter from Ohio, who had been under treatment for a heart ailment for 13 weeks, ignored the advice of physicians and came to Warren for the opening day of the season. Over-exertion and excitement after shooting a buck was too much for his weak heart, and he collapsed and died—probably in a manner in which he would have most desired.

Stamp News

FROM Rio de Oro, the long narrow strip of Spanish territory sandwiched in between Morocco and French West Africa on the northwest coast of Africa, come two colorful issues of postal, special delivery and airmail stamps for the administrative districts of Spanish West Africa (Ifni) and Spanish Western Sahara. Instead of the eight postal values listed for Ifni here last week, the complete issue now is known to number 11 postal values, one special delivery and eight airmail stamps. The same number has been issued for Spanish Western Sahara.

Whether the Ifni stamps will be recognized by the Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue as legitimate issues for postal purposes remains to be seen. Volume II of the 1944 catalogue gives only tentative listing to 1940-41 overprints of 1936 types of Spanish stamps for this district. The last Spanish Western Sahara issues appeared in 1931 when a 1924 issue was overprinted with the words "Republica Espanola." The 1924 issue, incidentally, was the first for this district listed in the Standard Catalogue.

Stamp values of the two countries are identical with the postals 1, 2, 5, 15, 20, 40, 45 and 75-centimos, 1, 3 and 10 pesetas. The special delivery value is 25-c and the airmails are 5, 25, 50-c, 1, 1.40, 2, 5 and 6-p. Ifni's regular postage issues portray a native shepherd, a soldier and a native leading a pack horse with a fortress-type town in the background. Planes appear on the airmail issues. A camel caravan, a gazelle and a mounted camel troop are portrayed on various postal issues of Spanish Western Sahara while its airmails portray an ostrich with a plane overhead and the shadow of a plane on a camel caravan.

Curaco, Netherlands West Indies, will surcharge four values of its current airmail stamps to raise money for the relief of Netherlands prisoners of war, according to the Netherlands Information Bureau in New York. Beginning December 1, these four values will be surcharged as follows: 1.40 gulden surcharged 40 cents plus 50 cents; 2.80-g, 45-c plus 50-c; 5-g, 50-c plus 75-c, and 10-g, 60-c plus 100-c. The words "Voor Krijgsgevangenen" (For Prisoners of War) will be printed in the upper corner and the entire issue will be limited to 20,000 sets.

The Netherlands Information Bureau also reports that Netherlands East Indies postal authorities in Merauke—capital of that part of Dutch New Guinea which has remained free from Japanese invasion—have been so overwhelmed with letters posted by Allied soldiers that their supply of stamps has been completely exhausted. In their place a special rubber stamp has been devised for the duration. Its impression reads in Dutch and English respectively: "Frankeering Betaald" and "Postage Paid." Letters bearing this frank also will carry the usual Merauke date stamp.

Two of Russia's highest military honors are portrayed on two new issues of the Soviet Union, just received in this country. A one ruble pale blue pictures the Medal of the Patriotic War while a 10-ruble olive green depicts the medal of the Order of General Alexander Suvoroff.

Volume II of the 1944 Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue, covering European countries and colonies and the independent nations of Africa and Asia, was released by Scott Publications, Inc., this week. Many price changes are listed and prices generally are increased. Changes include separate listing of "syncopated perforations" of Netherlands stamps. These are special perforations intended to adapt the stamps for vending and affixing machines. Some tentative listings for 1943 also have been given permanent listing, notably overprints of Alsace and Lorraine and Luxembourg overprints. Volume II has a blue binding to distinguish it from Volume I, in response to requests from many philatelists.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—When Vincent Price was 10 years old, back in St. Louis, he went on a shopping expedition and came back with a Rembrandt etching. It was the first piece of art he ever bought, and the beginning of a habit.

Today, in a little alley shop in Beverly Hills, you can drop in any day for a look at Price's etchings—and oils, water colors and pencil sketches too. Almost any day, that is. Some days you'll find the shop closed, with a cryptic note on the door explaining that the clerks, all three, have left their pictures to work in pictures.

They are informal and very merry tradespeople—Vincent, his wife Edith Barrett, and their friend George Macready,—and their recent opening has given a striking new proof that Hollywood, once noted as a community that bought paintings by size and books by the yard, is really going in for capital-A art.

PRICE hasn't been shopkeeper lately. Sweaty and scraggle-bearded, he has been manning a big gun and jumping into fox-holes of a movie Bataan on a back-lot jungle for "The Eve of St. Mark." The movie bombs explode, sending crushed cork flying everywhere, and then Vince comes out of his fox-hole and tells us about his new venture.

"I wanted to act, and I wanted to collect art, and some day to have my own art store," he says.

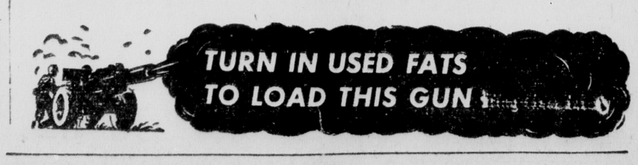

After Yale, Price went to the University of London, having failed to convince Broadway managers that he could act. He achieved that first ambition by playing a cop in a London production of "Chicago," following this debut by playing Prince Albert in "Victoria Regina" first in London, later opposite Helen Hayes in America. And during his stay abroad he spent all his spare cash "picking up" little art treasures. Sometimes, to acquire a Renoir or a Degas, he subsisted on soups for weeks. When he married Edith Barrett, he found her an equally avid art-lover.

SO not long ago they found the little shop in the alley, and with Macready they spent three weeks and $200 renovating its one room. They opened with a show, and roped in another friend, actor Richard Whorf, to display his own oils. About 25 guests were invited, 350 came, and the whole show was sold.

Giddy with success, they staged others. Price's own collection of 200 items has been whittled, by now, to three—but he doesn't mind because he is, at last, a dealer.

Among the steadier customers: Tallulah Bankhead, Marlene Dietrich, Jean Gabin, Hedy Lamarr, Thomas Mitchell, Paulette Goddard, Alfred Hitchcock.

The unity of the program arranged by Mrs. W. R. Carlin about the seasonal subject of Thanksgiving made the annual thankoffering meeting of the Second Auxiliary Missionary Society an unusually satisfactory one for members who gathered in the women's parlors of the First Presbyterian church.

Notre Dame Suffers Loss of Prestige, But Still Tops

What's in a Game?

Irish Picked as Number One Eleven By Eighty-Six of 131 Sports Experts in Country

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Notre Dame remains as the top football team in the country, despite its 19 to 14, movie-like loss to Great Lakes, but its popularity took a drastic cut.

Eighty-six of 131 sports experts voting in the final Associated Press poll of the season, marked the No. 1 on their ballots and their decisions kept Notre Dame on the throne for the ninth straight week.

The remaining 45 voters were definite in their opinions that the loss that had robbed the Frank Leahy machine of much of its glamour. Some dropped the Irish as low as seventh, in contrast to the poll of three weeks ago when Notre Dame established a record by snaring every first-place ticket. As it was, however, the Irish finished with 1,259 points to take over the mythical national championship in succession to the 1942 Ohio State eleven.

Not only did Notre Dame's loss cost it heavily in points but it lifted the Great Lakes aggregation from 21st to sixth place and made the Iowa Pre-flight, Irish victim by a 14 to 13 count, a strong runner-up to the South Bend stalwarts.

The Seahawks grabbed 12 first place votes and a total of 1,028 points—only 231 less than the total compiled by Notre Dame.

The first ten is made up of six teams from the middlewest, two from the far west, one from the east and one from the south.

Thirty-two elevens received consideration, including all eight of the squads named to the four Jan. 1 major bowl games.

Before a good crowd of fans the "Y" besketball league got under way last evening. In the first game of the series, Struthers took the measure of the Forge team, 18-15. This was an upset as the Forge had been picked to win this affair. However, Manager "Rabbit" Swanson pulled a couple of new players from somewhere at the last moment and presented an altogether different team to the public's gaze tnan what had formerly been on paper.

The second game brought onto the floor two of the younger teams in the league, Bakers and Blomquists. Blomquists took this tilt by the narrow margin of one point. This game was played with all the wild, reckless abandonment of youth and while it was sloppy in spots, it was plainly seen that these boys will make the veterans step to overcome them when they meet in the future.

The games next scheduled, will take place on Saturday night and brings together for the first fray, Bakers and the Forge. The second game will show O'Connors against Blomquists.

Tom Harmon Walking Out Safely Again

By JERRY LISKA

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 30—(AP)—The rejoicing family of army pilot Tom Harmon attended a mass of Thanksgiving today in celebration of the former All-America football player's second deliverance this year from the dread list of men "missing in action."

Before dawn, his aged parents and a sister went to the same Catholic chapel on the University of Michigan campus where last April they had given prayerful thanks for Harmon's miraculous escape from a bomber crash in South American jungles that claimed the lives of five other crew members.

This time the occasion was word that Tom was "walking out," as a friend described it in a letter home, from a similar adventure in China. He had been missing on a combat mission over Kiukiang since Oct. 30.

"Thank the Lord," Tom's father sputtered joyfully when he learned of the air force announcement that Tom was safe in China. "It's almost too good to believe, although moms and I never lost faith for a moment."

CHURCHILL WORKS AS USUAL ON BIRTHDAY

London, Nov. 30—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill celebrated his 69th birthday today, and spokesmen at No. 10 Downing street, his official residence, said he was "working as usual."

No ceremonies were planned in London for the prime minister's anniversary. The Berlin radio, however, said he was attending a tri-power Allied meeting in Cairo.

Warren County Reports First Tragedy in Woods On Opening Day of The Season for Bucks

mobiles passing through town last evening. The fact that the snow was crunchy undoubtedly kept the number of kills to a minimum. However, before the week is out there promises to be a large number of bucks brought down. Some really fine specimens were shot.

The influx of hunters kept up yesterday and last evening the crowded conditions experienced on Sunday night continued. Rooms were at a premium and in Kinzua practically every house was filled, while at Sheffield, scores of men sought places to sleep. At the Warren Y. M. C. A. last night, every dormitory was filled and on the second floor of the building, 14 men slept on mattresses placed on the floor.

Game protectors patrolled the woodlands of the county as thoroughly as possible and only one case is reported where a deer was shot and abandoned in the woods. That was reported from near Scandia, where a small spike buck was killed.

State poolice also checked at strategic points where highways converged and examined the kill and licenses of the hunters who were bringing in their deer.

This morning there was another outpouring of hunters into the woods and scores of the animals will doubtless be shot today.

It is expected that when the camps begin to empty for the weekend, the number of deer to be seen on cars will be large as many of the hunting parties are hanging their deer until the end of the week.

A round-up of the opening day throughout the state is covered in an Associated Press story as follows:

Reports of the first day's hunt indicated the kill was lower than usual, but accidents also were fewer. The season continues two weeks, to be followed by an antlerless deer hunt in Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Cameron, Sullivan, Tioga and Warren counties.

Donald Vite, 20, of Rossiter, was shot accidentally in the leg by a companion on a hill above the Tionesta state fish hatchery in Forest county.

Most communities were unprepared for the sudden influx of so many hunters. In Coudersport many made house-to-house canvasses seeking quarters and many had to sleep in their cars. Hotels and restaurants there remained open overnight to furnish some shelter and help to the nimrods.

The kill in Potter county was placed at approximately 200 for the first day, quite a bit less than the same ray last year.

Emporium reported more hunters arriving than facilities for handling them. L. G. Barnes, district forester, estimated about 200 deer were killed in Cameron county.

Dr. Charles Brown and his wife of Oil City reported a double kill in the Tionesta Dam region. He got a buck in the morning and Mrs. Brown an eight-pointer a few hours later.

First to bag a deer in McKean county apparently was Mrs. Frances Hall, of Bordell, who came out of the woods ten minutes after the 8 A. M., opening time with an eight-pointer weighing 168 pounds Don Rupert, 14, of Bradford, got a six-pointer at 9:30 A. M.

The heaviest kill was reported at Kinzua Valley and Mead Run, where a score or more deer were bagged.

Aussies Close in on Enemy Jungle Post

was necessary to iron out a bulge in Allied lines.

A strong force of Liberators dumped 94 tons of bombs on Wewak, Japanese stronghold on the northeast coast of New Guinea. There was no interception. This puzzled air force officers because at last reports the enemy had more than 50 fighters in the Wewak area. Some expressed the opinion lack of resistance was due to increased respect for the fire power of a large number of heavy bombers flying in close formation.

In the Solomons, fighters and bombers of the 13th Airforce continued the heavy offensive against Bougainville. Here, too, the Japanese failed to offer any fighter resistance. The only casualty to the Allies was one fighter forced down by anti-aircraft fire. The pilot was saved.

Nearly 100 Dauntless and Avenger bombers attacked enemy installations on the south shore of Empress Augusta Bay, site of Allied landings on Bougainville. An ammunition dump was hit and at least 30 buildings destroyed.

First state-authorized bird refuge was established at Lake Merritt, Oakland, Cal., in 1872.

European war must be of utmost concern to the Nazis because of their effect on the next crucial months of the conflict. During those months Germany, while devoid of all hope of victory, may still try for a peace short of unconditional surrender.

In the meantime, as some observers here see the situation, the Nazis can be expected to use all the wiles of their propaganda machine to stave off utter defeat and to create as much confusion as possible in Allied ranks. Secretary of State Hull put the peace talk in this category yesterday by saying it is intended to cause overconfidence in the Allied camp and thus impair the war effort.

Others, seeking an explanation of the timing of the latest wave of rumors from such neutral sources as Bern and Stockholm, linked them directly with the Allied parley.

U. S. Bombers Set Record For Attacks

for November reached the total of 21—one short of the war's greatest offensive in August.

Last night's Mosquito raid on Germany and intruder missions on Naxis airfields in France and Holland were carried out without a loss.

A communique also disclosed yesterday that American Marauder medium bombers and RAF Typhoons hammered Nazi airdromes in Belgium while British Mosquitos attacked an unspecified railway center in northwest Germany. RAF airmen also blasted enemy shipping off Brest.

Allied losses in all these operations were listed officially as 13 heavy bombers—Flying Fortresses—and 18 fighters, of which 16 were American. A total of 45 enemy aircraft were reported destroyed—35 during the assault on Bremen.

Flying Fortresses which made the 800-mile round trip to Bremen encountered temperatures of 65 degrees below zero in the substratosphere. It was the coldest weather the American bomber crews have endured in this theatre and returning airmen described the extreme icing conditions which they encountered as more a hazard than the few German planes which callenged them.

His outstanding services have been in great measure responsible for the functioning of these offices on a sound operating basis."

Quoting further from his citation: ". . . for exceptionally meritorious and outstanding service . . . by his unswerving devotion to duty, cheerful cooperation, good judgment and ingenuity, he has played an important part in the chief administration and training of personnel, and in so doing he has contributed materially to the success of the Allied War Effort."

the Yugoslav city of Sarajevo, where the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand and his wife in 1914 touched off the first World War.

American Flying Fortresses and M-26s delivered a heavy attack on the airport and railroad yards at Grosseto, 80 miles north of Rome, and American Mitchells laid out a pattern bombing of roads, railways and bridges at Guilianova, a communications center north of Pescara on the Adriatic coast.

Miners' Pay Pact Causing Much Friction

ed" 45 minutes travel time for the period of government operation, it made clear that when a contract between the United Mine Workers and operators is submitted the contract will have to stand on facts and not assumptions. The facts are now being gathered. If they show substantially higher travel time, and therefore less productive time, the board's formula would call for decreased earning for the miners. Thus, the coal case has not been ended yet.

Still Seeking New Sources of Revenue

their demands to a fifth of that amount—pointed to rising national income figures as evidence that the country can pay the taxes.

But committee members were openly concerned that efforts to tax war wages would hit just as hard the "fixed income" families that live on pensions, annuities and other incomes that have not gone up because of the war.

After the first day's hearing, it appeared unlikely that the senate will go much further—if any—than the house did in its $2,140-000,000 revenue bill, unless federal sales tax advocates can win adoption of their plan.

A sales tax would have to be enacted over the opposition of the treasury.

How Germany is growing stronger

YOU MAY THINK Germany is growing weaker. But—

In many military respects, she is actually growing stronger. Here's how:

1. As Germany's lines of communication grow shorter, her military might will gather power, like a coiling spring. The Nazi armies that fought so furiously as far from home as Stalingrad and the Caucasus will fight even more furiously as the fighting approaches Poland and Germany proper.

2. Today Germany has 3 times as many combat divisions as she had when she attacked Poland 4 years ago. The divisions lost at Stalingrad have been replaced, and Germany has raised or reequipped a total of 60 new divisions. All told, Germany has 300 divisions!

3. The Germans now have 35,000,000 war workers in Nazi-dominated lands, as contrasted with 23,000,000 at the start of the war.

4. Germany can make ends meet on industrial manpower. She expects to add 3,000,000 more war workers by Christmas in an all-out mobilization drive.

5. Allied air bombings have been affective, but the vast industrial power of Hitler's Europe is still high.

6. American officers returning from the front say that German prisoners are just as cocky and determined as ever.

7. German technicians are working feverishly on the development of new and deadlier weapons. One of these — the "magnetic" torpedo — has already begun to take its toll of lives and materials in the Battle of the Atlantic. Another, a rocket gun, has devastating fire power.

Nobody's trying to scare you. We're going to win this war. But the toughest fighting is still ahead — and War Bond buying must keep pace with the fighting!

The more men and the more money we can pour in now, the quicker we win. Buy an extra Bond — today!

KEEP ON BACKING THE ATTACK!

BRIDGEHEAD HAS BEEN WIDENED TO TWELVE MILES

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Nov. 30—(AP)—The British Eighth Army has cracked the main winter defense line of the Germans on the Adriatic end of the Italian front by driving four miles forward from the Sangro river, Allied headquarters announced today.

In 36 hours of continuous day and night fighting Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces captured portions of the vital Sangro ridge northwest of the river and routed the Nazis from the town of Mezzagrogna.

Simultaneously, United States units of the Allied Fifth Army fought their way forward one mile through blistering enemy shellfire to occupy the town of Castelnuovo, northwest of Montaquilla.

While clawing up the Sangro ridge, which rises 750 to 1,000 feet above the river valley, the British, New Sealand and Indian troops under Montgomery also widened their bridgehead to 12 miles.

This frontal assault on the enemy's heavily fortified mountain positions was supported by deadly artillery and aerial bombardment, which in itself was almost sufficient to make the Germans' defense system in this section crumble.

The advancing British captured numerous prisoners from the German 65th infantry Division who were described as "bomb happy" indicating they were shocked and demoralized from the heavy bombing and shelling.

After taking Mezzagrogna the Eighth Army hammered away in the direction of Romagnoli at the extreme south end of the ridge and north toward Fossacesia at the northeastern end of the ridge.

During this surge onto higher ground the little villages of Marcantonio, Basilo, Marcuccia, Casone, Cocco, Marcono and San Onofsia were overrun.

Farther inland the situation around the second bridgehead across the Sangro river near Archi was reported generally quiet and Montgomery's headquarters gave no intimation whether the enemy's important supply road along the river in that section had been cut.

On the Fifth Army front heavy fighting by the Americans during the past 48 hours continued around the Falconara mountain, where Castelnuovo was occupied.

Enemy artillery bombardments increased there and on other sectors of the Fifth Army front.

Allied aircraft joined in the blows at the Germans' mountain entrenchments and other installations and also extended their operations to include an air attack on

Seasoned Troops, With Conquest of Sattelburg Behind Them, are Approaching Bonga

GAINS UNDISCLOSED

Southwest Pacific Allied Headquarters, Nov. 30—(AP)—Seasoned Australian troops, their conquest of Sattelburg behind them, are closing in on Bonga, another Japanese outpost in the New Guinea jungle.

Tanks crunched through the tangled undergrowth in support of the troops as the attack started, while Billy Mitchell bombers skimmed the treetops, slashing enemy positions with machinegun fire.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced the assault began last Saturday. By Sunday afternoon the Australians were within a mile of their objective. The distance gained was not given.

Bonga lies northeast of Sattelberg, which fell to the Allies Nov. 26. A spokesman said its capture

Senators in Know Expect Long War

By JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—The current crop of peace rumors has whipped up speculation among members of congress about an early end to the war but several senators in a position to know something about the progress of the fighting agreed today it will be surprising if the Germans are beaten before next summer or even later.

As one exception, however, Senator Austin (R-VT.), ranking minority member of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, told this reporter that without any knowledge of the events, he is inclined to lend some credence to reports that the Germans already may have broached peace terms to the Allies.

But Senator Lodge (R-Mass.), who saw action in Africa as an army major and who subsequently visited Allied battlefronts on a senatorial tour, saw little likelihood that the war against the Germans could be won before midsummer at the earliest.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo.) of the senate war investigating committee predicted it will take a year to crush Germany and that the cleanup fighting against Japan will last another year after that.

Australian Sets Trans-Ocean Mark

Montreal, Nov. 30—(AP)—The trans-Atlantic air speed record from Montreal to Britain was beaten yesterday at Capt. Richard Allen an Australian member of British Overseas Airways Corporation which operates the North Atlantic ferry shuttle service for the RAF Transport Command.

He flew a Liberator bomber 3,100 miles non-stop from Montreal to a British airport in 11 hours and 35 minutes—21 minutes faster than a record established seven weeks ago by a Lancaster bomber piloted by Caupt. M. B. Barclay of Perth, Scotland, Capt. Barclay was making the inaugural flight of Trans-Canada Airlines New Atlantic service.

Weapons Available to Meet Secret "Reprisal" Threats

By TOM REEDY

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Hitler's threat to use a secret "reprisal" weapon was answered by U. S. military spokesman with these disclosures today:

1.—The U. S. Army Air Force has learned how to hoist 75 MM cannon into the skies—a giant plane weapon so potent it already has sunk a Japanese destroyer single-handed.

2.—The navy has developed some ordnance sensations, one so amazing that a foreign scientist labelled it impossible.

The army said its B-25 Mitchell medium bombers had been equipped with the 75's, first ever to carry such heavy firepower. U. S. bombers have been using 37MM guns, Russia had some success with RP MM. Fighter planes usually carry 20 MM cannon.

The feat got its combat test in the South Pacific. A B-25 so equipped smashed a Japanese air transport, then with five direct cannon hits left a large destroyer sinking.

Rear Adminral W. H. P. Blandy who is leaving his desk as chief of the navy's ordnance bureau to return to sea duty, said new naval weapons now in use are "fully comparable to the German radio-controlled bomb and the German accoustic homing torpedoes."

Ohio Hunter is Heart Victim

Warren County Reports First Tragedy In Woods on Opening Day of the Season for Bucks

A hunter from Ohio, who died from a heart attack following overexertion and excitement after he had shot a deer in the vicinity of Hermit Springs, Watson township, late Monday afternoon, was the first fatality among the thousands of nimrods who were in the woods in the state the opening day of the season, according to press reports.

Reese Evans, 53, of Petroleum, O., hunting with friends in the Hearts Content area, was the victim of the tragedy, according to word conveyed to Coroner Ed Lowrey last evening by his companion, Troy Chambers, of Masury, O. Later the official was advised by telephone by the widow of Mr. Evans that he had been idle for 13 weeks because of a heart ailment.

Mr. Chambers, in a statement made during the investigation, made the following report:

"After killing the deer I went back to the car for help, bringing a partner who aided in finding the buck, since it was higher up the hill. We did not hear Mr. Evans again and we succeeded in bringing the deer down about half the distance. I called to Mr. Evans and did not get any reply, so we started back, finding him about 300 feet from where the deer fell. He was lying on his face, and his rifle was lying beside his body."

Permission was given to move the body to the Lutz Funeral Home in this city, where examination revealed no marks of any nature excepting a slight bruise on the nose where he had fallen. Today it was removed to the Stewart funeral home at Hubbard Ohio.

Mr. Evans was born December 4, 1890, and would have been 53 years of age next Saturday. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Owen Hacker and Catherine Anne Reeves, both of Petroleum, Ohio. It is understood that he was employed as a machinist and that Mr. Chambers was his foreman.

While the deer kill on the opening day was not as great as had been anticipated, there were many deer tied to the fenders of auto-

U. S. BOMBERS SET RECORD FOR ATTACKS

Eighth Air Force Follows on Heels of R. A. F. Raids On Targets in West Germany

AIRFIELDS DAMAGED

By ROBERT STURDEVANT

London, Nov. 30—(AP)—U. S. Eighth Air Force heavy bombers attacked targets in estern Germany in daylight today, setting a record of 11 major raids for one month's heavy operations from bases in Britain.

Following on the heels of last night's RAF Mosquito bomber raid on the same general area, the American heavies were supported by U. S. RAF, Dominion and Allied fighters during their mission.

The four-engined American bombers exceeded by one the previous record of 10 operations set in July and equalled in September.

The announcement of the widespread fighter support was a rare combination fo rthe big bombers which are usually acvcompanied only by American fighters.

With the Americans' end-of-the month burst, the combined aerial operations of both the American and British heavy bomb groups

Used Clothing Drive Will Get Under Way Tomorrow

TOMORROW . . .
WEDNESDAY . . .
DECEMBER 1, 1943 . . .

This will be a Red Letter day in the history of Warren County salvage effort; one of the most important days since the official beginning of the salvage campaign not long after the attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. Why? Because this is the first used clothing drive in all that eventful period, a period of great activity and substantital success in most phases of the salvage effort.

Borough schools under Superintedent John G. Rossman have joined with County schools under Superintendent H. L. Blair, to make the giant drive an overwhelming success.

Students of all schools are asked to bring used clothing from their homes, and the homes of neighbors not later than tomorrow morning.

Volunteer trucks will be on the roads early in the morning to pick up the collection. Masterson trucks will cover the ten borough schools on Wednesday while State highway trucks will cover the County schools on Thursday and Friday.

Clothes will be dry cleaned locally and forwarded to National agencies to be distributed among destitute people all over the world.

Clubs, stores, and other public organizations have been requested to place boxes in lobbies for the collection of such articles, and cartons are being delivered to all schools in the Borough for the same purpose. Lists of the articles desired and those not desired have already been published in the newspaper and otherwise circularized to all interested organizations.

Miners' Pay Pact Causing Much Friction

Quirk in Agreement Comes To Fore on Basis of Data Submitted

EXPLAINS HIGH COSTS

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—A quirk in the agreement between Interior Secretary Ickes and John L. Lewis—regarded in some quarters as an underlying friction—came to the fore today on the basis of data prepared by the Solid Fuels Administration.

It explains in part why coal prices are going up, even though the War Labor Board says it did not approve a wage increase. It indicates, too, why another coal crisis may be hatching.

What the War Labor Board approved was not a wage increase, but an increase in earnings. The WLB justified its approval on the basis of an increased production time of one hour a day. But the increase in working time is based in part on an assumption, and therein lies the asserted friction.

Its extent is disclosed in a letter from Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson to the OPA authorizing price increases averaging 17 cents a ton. Vinson said the Solid Fuels Administration (Ickes) told him the increased labor costs resulting from the new wage agreement should be computed on an estimated "production increase of approximately 8 percent by reason of the additional work time provided for in the agreement."

In the soft coal case, it is the 45 minutes travel time. On a portal to portal basis, every minute spent traveling underground is taken from the time when miners would be producing coal. The Ickes-Lewis agreement "assumes" an average of 45 minutes travel time. Operators say the figure substantially exceeds that and Lewis himself once contended the average was 90 minutes.

Although the War Labor Board was willing to accept the "assum-

Hike In Milk Price Urged by Speaker

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—(AP)—Pennsylvanians could now afford to pay "20 cents a quart for milk without reducing their purchasing power," Dr. William C. Pierce, associatte professor of agricultural economics at the Pennsylvania State College told delegates to the annual two day Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative meeting.

Speaking before more than 440 delegates representing 6,600 dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and part of West Virginia, yesterday Dr. Pierce pointed out that milk sold in Philadelphia for 12 cents a quart in 1939 now sells for 14 cents. He told the delegates that milk would now cost 30 cents a quart had milk prices advanced at the same rate as bituminous coal prices.

The delegates were told that labor costs on Pennsylvania dairy farms had almost doubled since 1942 while retail milk prices have risen only 17 per cent since 1939.

Peace Overtures Viewed As Nazi Propaganda Offensive

Reich Expected to Use All Wiles to Offset Expected Big News

CRUCIAL TIME AHEAD

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Talk of German peace overtures was viewed here today as indicating that Nazi leaders have launched a propaganda offensive to counter the expected big news from a conference of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

This meeting, which probably also involves discussions with Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, may be current now; at least Washington and London, after days of tentative guessing, now take it for granted that if it has not already been held it must be at hand.

The agreements which may be announced by the big three of the

An Associated Press dispatch from London said this Reuters dispatch was not distributed by Reuters in Britain. However, it was transmitted through London and reached New York by normal radio transmission.

Four Killed In Philadelphia By Same Gun

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—(AP)—William Harrison, a 58-year-old real estate salesman went bersek yesterday killing two partners in a firm which employed him and later slaying two downtown YMCA employes before he shot himself with a 32-caliber revolver.

Lieutenant George Spangler, city police ballistic expert, said today that microscopic tests "proved conclusively that the gun found in Harrison's hand by Detectives shortly after the shooting occurred was the same gun that killed Harrison's employers and the YMCA employes." The coroners office listed the cases as murder and suicide.

The coroner said inquests will be held next week in the deaths of Harrison, Samuel Clokey, 58, and David Fink, 47, partners in the real estate firm, and Madease Chappell, 29, a maid, and Mrs. Nora Harley, 26, assistant secretary of the YMCA. Both women and Harrison were negroes.

Police said Harrison was a graduate of Hampton Institute and dabbled in astrology. His friends, they said, regarded him as a "chronic grouch."

Retention Of Liquor Board Head Prospect

Gov. Expected to Make Early Announcement Regarding Posts

COLEGROVE MENTIONED

Harrisburg, Nov. 30—(AP)—Retention of Chairman Frederick T. Gelder on the Liquor Control Board and filling of a third board membership vacant since 1941, appeared probable today to a high administration source.

"Governor Martin has complete confidence in Gelder's sincerity and integrity—as does the public—and my belief is he will be retained," the state official explained yesterday in commenting on the expiration of Gelder's term without public word from the governor that he is planning any change.

The same source said the governor, in acting on the third $10,000 place on the board, will name "an aggressive member," reviving speculation as to whether Arthur Colegrove, Corry publisher, will be offered the post.

Colegrove, secretary of Property and Supplies in former Governor George H. Earle's cabinet, was mentioned by name by the governor recently at a press conference in connection with a discussion of minority representation on boards and commissions.

Gelder, 69-year-old teetotaler and Forest City newspaper publisher, was named to the board in 1940 after 25 years in the state legislature.

An enlarged board would have the job of deciding on and putting into effect permanent whiskey rationing, now on an experimental basis until Dec. 31. At present, customers are permitted to buy a fifth and a pint of whiskey for the six-week period.

Greenwich Village Rocked by Blast

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Two persons, including a 28-year old guard who rescued two men, were injured fatally and 30 or more swing shift workers were hurt early today in the explosion of a leaking hydrogen tank in a lower west side war plant.

The plant guard, Robert Hiller of Brooklyn, on duty near a loading platform where the hydrogen was stored, died in Beekman hospital several hours after the blast. The second victim, Antonio Gangarello of Brooklyn, died in the same hospital.

The blast occurred at the Western Electric Company, rocking the neighborhood and shattering windows in buildings in a 10-block radius which includes Greenwich Village. The detonation was felt in several New Jersey communities across the river.

The War Department, Federal Bureau of Investigation, police and fire departments launched immediate investigations.

SOVIETS DRIVE FORWARD ON SIX SECTORS

Russians Doggedly Battering Way Through Forests, Swamps and Plains Toward Nazi Defenses

CONVERGE ON RAIL HUB

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Nov. 30—(AP)—Russian armies rolled steadily westward on six sectors of the long front today—three in white Russia and three in the Ukraine—doggedly battering their way through forests, swamps and plains densely spotted with heavily fortified German defense works.

Greatest progress was reported in the Zhlobin sector northwest of captured Gomel, where Gen Constantine Rakossovsky's troops were converging in a pincers movement on that rail hub and fortress guarding the Gomel escape gap.

A Russian communique said that Red Army spearheads had captured Stryeshin, 12 miles south of Zhlobin, and had seized 40 villages in a smashing drove from the west toward that strategic enemy base.

Other advances were recorded in the Berezina and Pripet River valleys west of the Dnieper River, the bulletin said.

Eight hundred Germans were reported killed as the Russians surged forward in this area, stabbing closer to the enemy supply system while the Nazis steadily retreated toward the old Polish border.

More than 200 miles to the south in the great bend of the Dnieper, another Russian army launched a renewed drive on the west bank of the river between Kiev and Kremenchug. The charge drove the Germans back eight miles west of Cherkasy, 1,500 Nazis fell before the Red Army guns, the communique announced, and soviet troops stormed into Russkaya-Polyana and four other towns, including Dubeyevka, near the rail junction of Smela.

(Russian forces have pierced the German defense lines at Cherkasy to establish a bridgehead on the Dnieper river and have reduced to less than five miles in width the corridor linking the Nazi garrison within the city and German forces holding the area between Cherkasy and Kremenchug, a Reuters dispatch from Moscow to London said today.)

PAC Members Are Planning On Busy Week

Another busy week is in prospect for the PAC members and their friends, according to a glimpse at their schedule of coming events.

The PAC church school orchestra group will practice at the church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and the Youth Loyalty Committee will meet with Brackett Ayers at 7:00 p. m. at the church.

A get-together, which is being termed a time of "let's make something for Christmas", is planned at the church at 7:30 p. m. Friday, when there will be fun, games and eats for all PAC members and any interested friends.

The newly formed junior-senior group will meet at the church at 8:00 p. m. on Sunday, under the leadership of Marion Lutz and Barbara Lesser.

Belated reports from last week's special activities show that the first play staged by the dramatic group was very well done and that all were very grateful to Olive Archibald Huff for her untiring work with the young people. In addition, there was a good turnout Saturday night for the Thanksgiving dance held at the YWCA activities building, when Leland Daye had charge of music and Helen Claire Hulings and her committee served refreshments.

Youngsville Man Stabs Brother In Quarrel Over Dead Rabbit

Two Youngsville men employed at Corry figured in a stabbing fray Saturday night that sent one of them to the hospital and the other to jail. Ira Henry, 30, is in the Corry Hospital recuperating from a deep stab wound in his back and his brother, Wade Henry, 33, is under arrest pending the outcome of his brother's injuries.

The men had been on a hunting trip and returned home about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The two with the wife of one of the brothers had hunted in the vicinity of Youngsville and on their return to Corry visited a number of drinking places. On going to their home a quarrel developed over the disposition of the one rabbit the hunt had netted. It was during the quarrel the stabbing took place. A hunting knife was used.

A young girl from a neighbor family who had been looking after children in the household, fled to her home and informed her parents. Police were called and upon their arrival found Mrs. Ira Henry, who had returned from a shopping trip, attempting to stop the flow of blood from the wound in her husband's back. Mrs. Wade Henry later claimed to have left the house during the quarrel and before the stabbing took place and her husband had left the scene when police arrived.

The injured man was taken to the hospital where the wound was reported to be a deep one. A physician reported the wound a serious one but said that Henry should recover unless pneumonia or other complications develop.

Shortly after the police had arranged for transfer of the victim to the hospital, Officer L. J. Kelly, with only a meagre description upon which to work, located Wade Henry in the bar of the Phoenix Hotel and placed him under arrest, no resistance being offered to the officer. The fellow readily admitted his identity when approached by Officer Kelly.

PRICES ARE UP

Retail coal prices have been upped by the New York Regional Board under which division this section is governed. The new prices are now in effect. Egg, nut, stove and pea sizes are increased 70 cents the ton; buckwheat increased 60 cents the ton; rice 50 cents the ton; barley and smaller sizes 35 cents the ton. All of these increases in anthracite coal go to the operators to repay them for higher labor costs to meet the new wage scale provided by the Ickes-Lewis agreement. Four cents a ton transportation charges must also be paid by the consumer. The retailers, it is said, have been hit hard by the increased costs of their own and recent weeks have been particularly difficult for them. Dealers are allowed by the OPA ruling to add the increases to the prices at the mines but not any more to the ceilings established for their various coal yards.

MRS. C. J. ENRIGHT

Friends here were greatly shocked to learn that a former Venturetown resident, Mrs. Cornelius J. Enright, now of Titusville, died suddenly in that city Sunday night as she seated herself in a pew for evening services in St. Paul's Reformed church. She had suffered a heart ailment and was under the care of a physician and it is believed notice of a death of a relative earlier in the day might have contributed to her sudden passing. Besides her husband and one son, Cornelius, Jr., she leaves three sisters and one granddaughter.

Funeral services will be held from the Courtney Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, followed by interment in Greenwood cemetery.

KEEPING APPOINTMENTS WITH CONVOYS

In a day's combat, an infantry division fires about 500 tons of ammunition . . . 100 37 mm. anti-aircraft guns, 127½ tons . . . and the thousands of army vehicles "passing the ammunition" and other supplies each burn up an average of 10 gallons of gasoline . . .

All of these materials—the guns, the "gas", the ammunition, the vehicles—plus 700,000 other different military items—must come by sea.

A gigantic supply task without parallel in the history of the nation, this job calls for the finest coordination of American railroads with ships.

The railroads must bring everything to ship sidings exactly as needed—and when needed. Any slip, any delay, may hold up a convoy sailing.

So keeping appointments with convoys is one of the most important jobs railroads have these days.

If pushing a "convoy train" through ahead of your passenger train caused you to be a little late for an early-morning business appointment, the Pennsylvania Railroad feels sure you will gladly overlook it. The demands of war must have not only railroad equipment—but the right-of-way!

Letters to the Editor

November 26, 1943

Editor,
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pa.
Sir:

Your recent editorial captioned "Christmas Trees To Be Scarce" was read with interest. The item is timely and is accurate as to the comparative scarcity of trees this year. However, your source of information, an unnamed "state forest expert", stated that "Some people have already purchased trees, and they won't have any needles on by Christmas." This broad statement cannot go unchallenged by one familiar with the Yule tree industry for 15 years and actively engaged in it for ten years.

Many Christmas trees cut in September and October hold all their needles until well into the following January, after two to three-week stays in heated houses. The writer has grown certain species of trees which have been kept in normally heated homes for as long as three months without losing their needles . . . untreated trees.

It is not to be supposed that this may be done with every tree sold for St. Nick to trim. Hemlock, the State Tree of Pennsylvania and one of the most attractive, is a very short keeper; this limitation on its use makes it commercially undesirable and it is not found in plantations. Another old favorite is the Norway Spruce, but it, too, has a comparatively short life indoors. Its keeping quality is affected by the season but generally speaking a few days after trimming it begins to make a "muss."

It has been learned by members of the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association and other growers that the Firs and Pines hold their needles longest. The needles of the Pines grow in clusters of 2, 3 and 5, all surrounded at the base with a sheath joined to the branches. Those most popular for Christmas trees are Red Pine, Scotch Pine and Austrian Pine.

The leaves (or "needles") of the Balsam Fir and the Douglas Fir persist for weeks indoors without the aid of water or chemicals. In this respect they are equal to the pines when they have not been shipped carelessly from their native Canadian and Western forests. Pennsylvania-grown Firs are increasing in popularity and may well supplant the Norway Spruce as the single-needle favorite.

"They won't have any needles by Christmas" can't be said of all Spruces, but the two or three species of Spruce with 'staying qualities' are thus far too expensive to be in general use.

Oceans of Oil!

The tanker tale is one of the great supply stories of the war. Oceans of the specialized fuels and lubricants required by our armed forces are on the seas at all times — bound for every battle front of global conflict.

American petroleum . . . in American tankers manned by American merchant crews.

The stout-hearted men who carry the oil down stormy, sub-haunted sea-lanes have native courage. Their resourcefulness was developed in the service of American industry.

The Government's tankers are the fleets turned over to it by the American petroleum industry when war broke. They are the world's most advanced and most efficient — because the petroleum industry had to keep developing and improving them in the close competition for your patronage under the American system of individual enterprise.

Without the competitive oil industry, our armed forces would have had neither necessary petroleum production nor necessary sea transportation as war came. The industry that contributed both rose, too, to meet the gigantic home emergency created by sending all its tanker fleets to war.

Crude oil deliveries to refineries were switched to tank cars. Finished product deliveries were switched from tank cars to trucks. Pipe-line operations were reversed to pump oil east instead of gasoline west.

This, achieved almost overnight, is how the industry came through with the needed fuel oil for war plants and the gasoline for your essential driving.

Its accomplishments we owe to the American competitive business system. In tomorrow's World of Victory, this same system will continue to improve on past performance.

FINAL ASSEMBLY

Chapter 13

H. C. ROLLINS leaned back in his swivel-chair and studied the Inter-office mailing envelope in his hand, a frown on his face.

"To Mr. Art Melvin," it read, "From Pete Neil, Department 134."

The letter had come to him by mistake and it was not at all unusual for plant Inter-office letters to go astray. It was, in fact, strictly unusual for them to reach their proper destination, the first time out. Rollins wondered why Pete was writing to Mr. Melvin and he frowned slightly. Pete Neil was still a sore spot with him.

Whether intentionally or not, Pete had certainly made him look foolish. The entire plant knew of the mistake he had made and chuckled at it. The office force and certain foremen in the plant were, on occasion still asking him jeeringly, "How's the new engineer?"

Despite her promise, his secretary had let the cat out of the bag, claiming, "Even if I never get another nickle raise . . . it was too good to keep!" He could visualize her grinning face, hear her merry laugh, now, and his cheeks grew even more red.

So, Pete was writing to Mr. Melvin . . . and the letter had fallen into his hands. He could always claim that he had opened it by mistake. Hesitating no longer, he opened the envelope and drew forth the neatly-written pages.

As he read, a slow look of amazement spread over his face. This Neil might be an ordinary auto-mechanic, but he was pretty sharp, after all. Certainly, he was far from being a fool. His plan, as outlined, was good, very good. Then, suddenly, a look af amusement and satisfaction lighted his features and he grinned. Suppose this letter came into the hands of Ernest Kahl. It would be just too bad for Neil.

HE knew exactly what Kahl would do. He'd fire Pete, and do it quickly. Rollins had been unable to do that, due to the fact that Pete had stuck with the dog-chasing for nearly two months, and afterward made an excellent record for himself as a worker. Only the best of reports had come in from his foreman, Tim Brandon, but now . . . here was the chance of a lifetime.

Hurriedly, he attached a memo to the letter. He threw the envelope into the wastebasket and rose from his seat. He carried the letter personally into Kahl's office, which was only a short distance down the hall.

"Mr. Kahl in?" he asked the red-haired secretary.

"Why, no, Mr. Rollins."

"It's ten o'clock, now. Do you know where he is?"

"Officially, no." The girl smiled and winked at him. "But unofficially, he's probably nursing a hangover. Big party at the 'Padlock Club' last night. He'll show up about two P. M."

"And," put in Rollins, patting the girl's cheek, "he'll probably be in a vile humor?"

"Isn't he always?" the girl came back, "After he's been on a binge?"

"That's fine, baby," Rollins said and handed her Pete's letter. "Be sure he reads this letter as soon as he comes in."

"I will, Mr. Rollins."

PETE had no sooner started work that night, tightening hydraulic hose connections than Alf came up to him, grinning. "She thinks it's swell!" he cried.

Pete laughed. "Who thinks what's swell?"

"Kitty thinks your plan is swell. I told her all about it, outside, this afternoon, before we came in . . . only she says they'll fire you if you send it in. . . ."

"Wait," Pete broke in. "You had no business telling Ambrose anything about me. You talk too much. . . ."

"But, I thought . . ."

"I'm through with Miss Ambrose. Whatever I do is no concern of hers. For your own information, I've already sent the letter in to Mr. Melvin, and in the future please keep your mouth shut about my affairs."

The old man took a step backward, face white. "You can't talk to me like that!" he cried. "Some o' these days my papers will go through and I'll get to quit this place and not have to take any of your lip!"

Immediately sorry for his flare-up, Pete turned to the old man to apologize. But at that moment Tim Brandon walked up and placed a hand on Pete's shoulder.

"I'm sorry, Pete," Tim said. "I just got an order from the front office. You are to pack your tools, take them with you and go to Mr. Kahl's office. Here's your pass." He handed a slip of paper to Pete.

"But, why?" Pete wanted to know. "Why are they sending for me? Why do I have to take my tools?"

"I DON'T know, Pete," Tim said, "but it looks bad. It looks like they are going to let you out . . . and frankly, I can't understand it. You've become a very valuable man and I've sent in the best possible reports on you . . . but this looks like you are going to get the axe." He thrust out a hand and Pete shook it. "It's been nice knowing you, Pete and if there's anything I can do for you . . ."

"Sure," Pete said. "I understand, Tim, and I think I have an idea of what this is all about." He turned to Alf. "I'm sorry, pal," he said. "I shouldn't have blown up the way I did. You've been swell to me and I want to shake your hand before I leave . . . will you?"

The old man did not hesitate, but grasped Pete's hand instantly, his eyes cloudy. "It's okay, Pete," he said, "good luck."

In a few moments he had packed his tools. He started toward the front office.

"DEERBURGERS" ARE COMING

With a little help from friend wife, the deer hunter's family can have lots of tender and delicious meat on the table, including "deerburgers," for weeks after the season is over.

For venison, often scoffed at as the "leather of meats", and passed on in quantities to neighbors, can be kept at home and made edible and appetizing with a little patience and skill, Mrs. E. W. W. Dye of the Pennsylvania State College home economics department says.

Here are Mrs. Dye's tips on how to get the most out of the deer your husband kills:

1. Hang the meat outside for seasoning as long as a week.

3. Cook tender cuts, such as round, loin, steaks, and chops, by dry heat—roasting, broiling, or pan-broiling. Don't cover the pan but place a little extra fat atop the roast. Broil a one-inch steak about 10 minutes on each side. In pan-broiling, reduce heat and cook thoroughly after browning.

4. Stew or braise less tender cuts.

Mrs. Dye says, too, that venison meat loaf is delicious, with or without the addition of a little ground pork for extra tenderness.

Other ways to serve venison: "Swissing" the round steaks, covering them with celery, tomatoes, and onions after browning and slowly cooking 1 to 2 hours; making "deerburgers" by grinding the meat which, in this form, will also come in handy for making Christmas mince meat.

Different combinations of herbs may be used to add flavor, but red currant jelly is still the perennial favorite with venison in any form.

ROOSEVELT IS RIGHT

President Roosevelt's refusal to support any official observance of Pearl Harbor Day is very sound. That day is, as he says, a day of "great infamy". It is also a day of deep disgrace for the American nation.

We are not disgraced because we lost an engagement on that day. We are disgraced because we were sound asleep, we were caught off guard, we were beaten as a result of disorganization, uncoordination, unforgivable naivete.

The American people are not capable of spending an entire day in the depth of dejection which alone would express how we should feel about Pearl Harbor. So let's not try. Let's whip the Japs and get ourselves a day of rejoicing that we can properly celebrate.

HIKE COMING IN CANNED FOODS

One of our Washington correspondents says when the 1943 packs of processed fruit and vegetables arrive on grocery shelves you will pay from one to four cents more on a number two can of all major items except four vegetables. You will be paying five cents more for a one-pound jar of strawberry jam. Cider vinegar will rise in price about 50 per cent.

The four vegetables staying at old prices are tomatoes, peas, snap beans, and corn. It is certain that it is not coincidence that these are the four subsidized packs.

OPA experts estimate that if subsidies should fall, you would pay from $1.05 to $1.50 a pound for butter by next spring.

BET ON WRONG HORSE

Gloating would be out of order. Katharina Groninger has been buried in Potter's field, and she never was important except as an object lesson. But without gloating, we can point out that Miss Groninger bet on the wrong horse.

A native of Germany, she moved to this country, never became a citizen, and in 1908 began buying German marks. Eventually she spent $350,000 on them—toward the end, millions of marks at a time. In 1936 she went on home relief. This year she bean receiving $45 a month old age pension from the government she never thought it worth while adopting. Now her body lies in Potter's field. It wouldn't if she had bought U. S. bonds.

The lure that deer hunting holds for some sportsmen is emphasized by the tragedy that occurred in the woods in Watson township, this county, Monday afternoon when a hunter from Ohio, who had been under treatment for a heart ailment for 13 weeks, ignored the advice of physicians and came to Warren for the opening day of the season. Over-exertion and excitement after shooting a buck was too much for his weak heart, and he collapsed and died—probably in a manner in which he would have most desired.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1923

Edward Sweeting, who only a few days ago brought down a 300 pound bear has added to his bag a wildcat which weighed 25 pounds. Sweeting is one of the crack shots of this section and has shot a number of wildcats during the past few years.

Firemen were at the L. T. Parmlee home, Fourth and Laurel streets last evening about 9 o'clock when a broken pipe started a fire in the kitchen. It was soon extinguished with a small loss.

F. H. Gaige, superintendent of the Training Department of the Millersburg Teachers College was the speaker before the Lions Club yesterday. Dr. Emory Thompson o fthe Rotary Club was also a guest and he extended the glad hand of fellowship to the new organization.

The Warren Child Welfare Clinic is making an effort to have every child in the county treated with Toxin-Anti-Toxin inoculations. To that end an appeal has been made for parents to file applications. Scores have been received and the last day when they can be filed is now set.

Tickets for the annual sauer kraut supper of the First Lutheran church are going fast. The supper will be served December 6th and it is always a huge success.

In 1933

Over 100 men were present at the dinner given by the Ministerial Association marked Missions Week. Dr. Herbert C. Shaw, of Harrisburg was the speaker on the occasion and his talk roused much thought and comment.

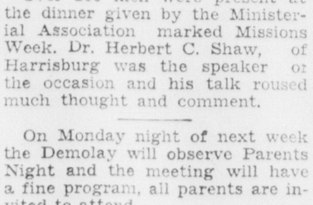

On Monday night of next week the Demolay will observe Parents Night and the meeting will have a fine program, all parents are invited to attend.

The sunshine of today is expected to clear the streets of snow and ice which have covermed them for several days past. The streets last night were slippery due to the ice on them. The snow is almost gone and the middle of the paved streets were cleared of snow yesterday.

Announcement is made that the next production to be staged by the Warren Players will be the New York success "The Queen's Husband". The cast will be selected soon and rehearsals started.

The joint committee from the two Masonic Lodges engaged in arranging for the annual St. John's Day banquet have arranged for tickets for the affair to be sold at several places in the vicinity. A good speaker has been secured for the affair and it promises to be highly enjoyable.

After stealing $1000 from a safe in Cairo, Egypt, an absent-minded burglar forgot his tool chest, bearing his name and address.

Stamp News

FROM Rio de Oro, the long narrow strip of Spanish territory sandwiched in between Morocco and French West Africa on the northwest coast of Africa, come two colorful issues of postal, special delivery and airmail stamps for the administrative districts of Spanish West Africa (Ifni) and Spanish Western Sahara. Instead of the eight postal values listed for Ifni here last week, the complete issue now is known to number 11 postal values, one special delivery and eight airmail stamps. The same number has been issued for Spanish Western Sahara.

Whether the Ifni stamps will be recognized by the Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue as legitimate issues for postal purposes remains to be seen. Volume II of the 1944 catalogue gives only tentative listing to 1940-41 overprints of 1936 types of Spanish stamps for this district. The last Spanish Western Sahara issues appeared in 1931 when a 1924 issue was overprinted with the words "Republica Espanola." The 1924 issue, incidentally, was the first for this district listed in the Standard Catalogue.

Stamp values of the two countries are identical with the postals 1, 2, 5, 15, 20, 40, 45 and 75-centimos, 1, 3 and 10 pesetas. The special delivery value is 25-c and the airmails are 5, 25, 50-c, 1, 1.40, 2, 5 and 6-p. Ifni's regular postage issues portray a native shepherd, a soldier and a native leading a pack horse with a fortress-type town in the background. Planes appear on the airmail issues. A camel caravan, a gazelle and a mounted camel troop are portrayed on various postal issues of Spanish Western Sahara while its airmails portray an ostrich with a plane overhead and the shadow of a plane on a camel caravan.

Curacao, Netherlands West Indies, will surcharge four values of its current airmail stamps to raise money for the relief of Netherlands prisoners of war, according to the Netherlands Information Bureau in New York. Beginning December 1, these four values will be surcharged as follows: 1.40 gulden surcharged 40 cents plus 50 cents: 2.80-g, 45-c plus 50-c; 5-g, 50-c plus 75-c, and 10-g, 60-c plus 100-c. The words "Voor Krijgsgevangenen" (For Prisoners of War) will be printed in the upper corner and the entire issue will be limited to 20,000 sets.

The Netherlands Information Bureau also reports that Netherlands East Indies postal authorities in Merauke—capital of that part of Dutch New Guinea which has remained free from Japanese invasion—have been so overwhelmed with letters posted by Allied soldiers that their supply of stamps has been completely exhausted. In their place a special rubber stamp has been devised for the duration. Its impression reads in Dutch and English respectively: "Frankeering Betaald" and "Postage Paid." Letters bearing this frank also will carry the usual Merauke date stamp.

Two of Russia's highest military honors are portrayed on two new issues of the Soviet Union, just received in this country. A one ruble pale blue pictures the Medal of the Patriotic War while a 10-ruble olive green depicts the medal of the Order of General Alexander Suvoroff.

Volume II of the 1944 Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue, covering European countries and colonies and the independent nations of Africa and Asia, was released by Scott Publications, Inc., this week. Many price changes are listed and prices generally are increased. Changes include separate listing of "syncopated perforations" of Netherlands stamps. These are special perforations intended to adapt the stamps for vending and affixing machines. Some tentative listings for 1943 also have been given permanent listing, notably overprints of Alsace and Lorraine and Luxembourg overprints. Volume II has a blue binding to distinguish it from Volume I, in response to requests from many philatelists.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—When Vincent Price was 10 years old, back in St. Louis, he went on a shopping expedition and came back with a Rembrandt etching. It was the first piece of art he ever bought, and the beginning of a habit.

Today, in a little alley shop in Beverly Hills, you can drop in any day for a look at Price's etchings—and oils, water colors and pencil sketches too. Almost any day, that is. Some days you'll find the shop closed, with a cryptic note on the door explaining that the clerks, all three, have left their pictures to work in pictures.

They are informal and very merry tradespeople—Vincent, his wife Edith Barrett, and their friend George Macready,—and their recent opening has given a striking new proof that Hollywood, once noted as a community that bought paintings by size and books by the yard, is really going in for capital-A art.

PRICE hasn't been shopkeeper lately. Sweaty and scraggle-bearded, he has been manning a big gun and jumping into fox-holes of a movie Bataan on a back-lot jungle for "The Eve of St. Mark." The movie bombs explode, sending crushed cork flying everywhere, and then Vince comes out of his fox-hole and tells us about his new venture.

"I wanted to act, and I wanted to collect art, and some day to have my own art store," he says.

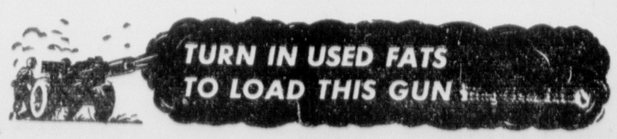

After Yale, Price went to the University of London, having failed to convince Broadway managers that he could act. He achieved that first ambition by playing a cop in a London production of "Chicago," following this debut by playing Prince Albert in "Victoria Regina" first in London, later opposite Helen Hayes in America. And during his stay abroad he spent all his spare cash "picking up" little art treasures. Sometimes, to acquire a Renoir or a Degas, he subsisted on soups for weeks. When he married Edith Barrett, he found her an equally avid art-lover.

SO not long ago they found the little shop in the alley, and with Macready they spent three weeks and $200 renovating its one room. They opened with a show, and roped in another friend, actor Richard Whorf, to display his own oils. About 25 guests were invited, 350 came, and the whole show was sold.

Giddy with success, they staged others. Price's own collection of 200 items has been whittled, by now, to three—but he doesn't mind because he is, at last, a dealer.

Among the steadier customers: Tallulah Bankhead, Marlene Dietrich, Jean Gabin, Hedy Lamarr, Thomas Mitchell, Paulette Goddard, Alfred Hitchcock.

Notre Dame Suffers Loss of Prestige, But Still Tops

What's in a Game?

Irish Picked as Number One Eleven By Eighty-Six of 131 Sports Experts in Country

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Notre Dame remains as the top football team in the country, despite its 19 to 14, movie-like loss to Great Lakes, but its popularity took a drastic cut.

Eighty-six of 131 sports experts voting in the final Associated Press poll of the season, marked the No. 1 on their ballots and their decisions kept Notre Dame on the throne for the ninth straight week.

The remaining 45 voters were definite in their opinions that the loss that had robbed the Frank Leahy machine of much of its glamour. Some dropped the Irish as low as seventh, in contrast to the poll of three weeks ago when Notre Dame established a record by snaring every first-place ticket. As it was, however, the Irish finished with 1,259 points to take over the mythical national championship in succession to the 1942 Ohio State eleven.

Not only did Notre Dame's loss cost it heavily in points but it lifted the Great Lakes aggregation from 21st to sixth place and made the Iowa Pre-flight, Irish victim by a 14 to 13 count, a strong runner-up to the South Bend stalwarts.

The Seahawks grabbed 12 first place votes and a total of 1,028 points—only 231 less than the total compiled by Notre Dame.

The first ten is made up of six teams from the middlewest, two from the far west, one from the east and one from the south.

Thirty-two elevens received consideration, including all eight of the squads named to the four Jan. 1 major bowl games.

Before a good crowd of fans the "Y" besketball league got under way last evening. In the first game of the series, Struthers took the measure of the Forge team, 18-15. This was an upset as the Forge had been picked to win this affair. However, Manager "Rabbit" Swanson pulled a couple of new players from somewhere at the last moment and presented an altogether different team to the public's gaze tnan what had formerly been on paper.

The second game brought onto the floor two of the younger teams in the league, Bakers and Blomquists. Blomquists took this tilt by the narrow margin of one point. This game was played with all the wild, reckless abandonment of youth and while it was sloppy in spots, it was plainly seen that these boys will make the veterans step to overcome them when they meet in the future.

The games next scheduled, will take place on Saturday night and brings together for the first fray, Bakers and the Forge. The second game will show O'Connors against Blomquists.

Tom Harmon Walking Out Safely Again

By JERRY LISKA

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 30—(AP)—The rejoicing family of army pilot Tom Harmon attended a mass of Thanksgiving today in celebration of the former All-America football player's second deliverance this year from the dread list of men "missing in action."

Before dawn, his aged parents and a sister went to the same Catholic chapel on the University of Michigan campus where last April they had given prayerful thanks for Harmon's miraculous escape from a bomber crash in South American jungles that claimed the lives of five other crew members.

This time the occasion was word that Tom was "walking out," as a friend described it in a letter home, from a similar adventure in China. He had been missing on a combat mission over Kiukiang since Oct. 30.

"Thank the Lord," Tom's father sputtered joyfully when he learned of the air force announcement that Tom was safe in China. "It's almost too good to believe, although moms and I never lost faith for a moment."

mobiles passing through town last evening. The fact that the snow was crunchy undoubtedly kept the number of kills to a minimum. However, before the week is out there promises to be a large number of bucks brought down. Some really fine specimens were shot.

The influx of hunters kept up yesterday and last evening the crowded conditions experienced on Sunday night continued. Rooms were at a premium and in Kinzua practically every house was filled, while at Sheffield, scores of men sought places to sleep. At the Warren Y. M. C. A. last night, every dormitory was filled and on the second floor of the building, 14 men slept on mattresses placed on the floor.

Game protectors patrolled the woodlands of the county as thoroughly as possible and only one case is reported where a deer was shot and abandoned in the woods. That was reported from near Scandia, where a small spike buck was killed.

State poolice also checked at strategic points where highways converged and examined the kill and licenses of the hunters who were bringing in their deer.

This morning there was another outpouring of hunters into the woods and scores of the animals will doubtless be shot today.

It is expected that when the camps begin to empty for the weekend, the number of deer to be seen on cars will be large as many of the hunting parties are hanging their deer until the end of the week.

A round-up of the opening day throughout the state is covered in an Associated Press story as follows:

Reports of the first day's hunt indicated the kill was lower than usual, but accidents also were fewer. The season continues two weeks, to be followed by an antlerless deer hunt in Lycoming, McKean, Potter, Cameron, Sullivan, Tioga and Warren counties.

Donald Vite, 20, of Rossiter, was shot accidentally in the leg by a companion on a hill above the Tionesta state fish hatchery in Forest county.

Most communities were unprepared for the sudden influx of so many hunters. In Coudersport many made house-to-house canvasses seeking quarters and many had to sleep in their cars. Hotels and restaurants there remained open overnight to furnish some shelter and help to the nimrods.

The kill in Potter county was placed at approximately 200 for the first day, quite a bit less than the same ray last year.

Emporium reported more hunters arriving than facilities for handling them. L. G. Barnes, district forester, estimated about 200 deer were killed in Cameron county.

Dr. Charles Brown and his wife of Oil City reported a double kill in the Tionesta Dam region. He got a buck in the morning and Mrs. Brown an eight-pointer a few hours later.

First to bag a deer in McKean county apparently was Mrs. Frances Hall, of Bordell, who came out of the woods ten minutes after the 8 A. M., opening time with an eight-pointer weighing 168 pounds. Don Rupert, 14, of Bradford, got a six-pointer at 9:30 A. M.

The heaviest kill was reported at Kinzua Valley and Mead Run, where a score or more deer were bagged.

Aussies Close in on Enemy Jungle Post

was necessary to iron out a bulge in Allied lines.

A strong force of Liberators dumped 94 tons of bombs on Wewak, Japanese stronghold on the northeast coast of New Guinea. There was no interception. This puzzled air force officers because at last reports the enemy had more than 50 fighters in the Wewak area. Some expressed the opinion lack of resistance was due to increased respect for the fire power of a large number of heavy bombers flying in close formation.

In the Solomons, fighters and bombers of the 13th Airforce continued the heavy offensive against Bougainville. Here, too, the Japanese failed to offer any fighter resistance. The only casualty to the Allies was one fighter forced down by anti-aircraft fire. The pilot was saved.

Nearly 100 Dauntless and Avenger bombers attacked enemy installations on the south shore of Empress Augusta Bay, site of Allied landings on Bougainville. An ammunition dump was hit and at least 30 buildings destroyed.

First state-authorized bird refuge was established at Lake Merritt, Oakland, Cal., in 1872.

Peace Overtures Viewed as Nazi Propaganda Offensive

European war must be of utmost concern to the Nazis because of their effect on the next crucial months of the conflict. During those months Germany, while devoid of all hope of victory, may still try for a peace short of unconditional surrender.

In the meantime, as some observers here see the situation, the Nazis can be expected to use all the wiles of their propaganda machine to stave off utter defeat and to create as much confusion as possible in Allied ranks. Secretary of State Hull put the peace talk in this category yesterday by saying it is intended to cause overconfidence in the Allied camp and thus impair the war effort.

Others, seeking an explanation of the timing of the latest wave of rumors from such neutral sources as Bern and Stockholm, linked them directly with the Allied parley.

U. S. Bombers Set Record For Attacks

for November reached the total of 21—one short of the war's greatest offensive in August.

Last night's Mosquito raid on Germany and intruder missions on Naxis airfields in France and Holland were carried out without a loss.

A communique also disclosed yesterday that American Marauder medium bombers and RAF Typhoons hammered Nazi airdromes in Belgium while British Mosquitos attacked an unspecified railway center in northwest Germany. RAF airmen also blasted enemy shipping off Brest.

Allied losses in all these operations were listed officially as 13 heavy bombers—Flying Fortresses—and 18 fighters, of which 16 were American. A total of 45 enemy aircraft were reported destroyed—35 during the assault on Bremen.

Flying Fortresses which made the 800-mile round trip to Bremen encountered temperatures of 65 degrees below zero in the substratosphere. It was the coldest weather the American bomber crews have endured in this theatre and returning airmen described the extreme icing conditions which they encountered as more a hazard than the few German planes which callenged them.

His outstanding services have been in great measure responsible for the functioning of these offices on a sound operating basis."

Quoting further from his citation: ". . . for exceptionally meritorious and outstanding service . . . by his unswerving devotion to duty, cheerful cooperation, good judgment and ingenuity, he has played an important part in the chief administration and training of personnel, and in so doing he has contributed materially to the success of the Allied War Effort."

Sgt. Schindler's brother, Staff Sgt. Robert, who left Warren with him on March 20, 1942, is still with him in the same battle area after having had all their periods of intervening training together.

the Yugoslav city of Sarajevo, where the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand and his wife in 1914 touched off the first World War.

American Flying Fortresses and M-26s delivered a heavy attack on the airport and railroad yards at Grosseto, 80 miles north of Rome, and American Mitchells laid out a pattern bombing of roads, railways and bridges at Guilianova, a communications center north of Pescara on the Adriatic coast.

ed" 45 minutes travel time for the period of government operation, it made clear that when a contract between the United Mine Workers and operators is submitted the contract will have to stand on facts and not assumptions. The facts are now being gathered. If they show substantially higher travel time, and therefore less productive time, the board's formula would call for decreased earning for the miners. Thus, the coal case has not been ended yet.

Still Seeking New Sources of Revenue

their demands to a fifth of that amount—pointed to rising national income figures as evidence that the country can pay the taxes.

But committee members were openly concerned that efforts to tax war wages would hit just as hard the "fixed income" families that live on pensions, annuities and other incomes that have not gone up because of the war.

After the first day's hearing, it appeared unlikely that the senate will go much further—if any—than the house did in its $2,140-000,000 revenue bill, unless federal sales tax advocates can win adoption of their plan.

A sales tax would have to be enacted over the opposition of the treasury.

How Germany is growing stronger

YOU MAY THINK Germany is growing weaker. But—

In many military respects, she is actually growing stronger. Here's how:

1. As Germany's lines of communication grow shorter, her military might will gather power, like a coiling spring. The Nazi armies that fought so furiously as far from home as Stalingrad and the Caucasus will fight even more furiously as the fighting approaches Poland and Germany proper.

2. Today Germany has 3 times as many combat divisions as she had when she attacked Poland 4 years ago. The divisions lost at Stalingrad have been replaced, and Germany has raised or reequipped a total of 60 new divisions. All told, Germany has 300 divisions!

3. The Germans now have 35,000,000 war workers in Nazi-dominated lands, as contrasted with 23,000,000 at the start of the war.

4. Germany can make ends meet on industrial manpower. She expects to add 3,000,000 more war workers by Christmas in an all-out mobilization drive.

5. Allied air bombings have been affective, but the vast industrial power of Hitler's Europe is still high.

6. American officers returning from the front say that German prisoners are just as cocky and determined as ever.

7. German technicians are working feverishly on the development of new and deadlier weapons. One of these — the "magnetic" torpedo — has already begun to take its toll of lives and materials in the Battle of the Atlantic. Another, a rocket gun, has devastating fire power.

Nobody's trying to scare you. We're going to win this war. But the toughest fighting is still ahead — and War Bond buying must keep pace with the fighting!

The more men and the more money we can pour in now, the quicker we win. Buy an extra Bond — today!
